ORDER FOR MANY SHELLS STARTS RUMORS GOING

MARE ISLAND, Feb. 9.—All sorts of war rumors were in circulation at the local naval station tonight when it was learned that orders were received at the magazine yesterday from the navy department directing that 18,000 rounds of armor piercing shells should be issued at once to five men-of-war, two of which are at present at Mare Island. As a result of the orders ten laborers, five seamstresses and one ordnanceman's helper were put to work yesterday by Commander Mark St. C. Ellis, magazine officer. The cruisers Cleveland and Denver, which are at present at the yard, will each receive over 3000 rounds of armor piercing five-inch shells, while the cruiser Galveston at the Bremerton navy yard will be equipped with a like amount. The Charleston, also at Puget Sound, in reserve, will receive over 4000 rounds of six-inch shells. The remainder will be sent to the cruiser South Dakota at Honolulu, and will consist mostly of one pounder shells.

Orders were also received at the yard during the day to rush repairs on the cruisers Cleveland and Denver, so that these two vessels can be in readiness to leave at an early date. It also is expected that the Galveston and Charleston will be ready to depart from Bremerton this month. It is believed that all five ships will be ordered to the Mexican coast.

WIRELESS TIME TO ALL SHIPS

BY C. S. ALBERT,
(Special Bulletin Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 8.—The United States navy has about completed a system of wireless telegraphy which will practically cover the positions of its ships on the high seas everywhere and with the principal foreign countries of the civilized world. The application of wireless telegraphy to the determination of the longitude of a ship at sea, in the opinion of scientists, is destined to be classed as one of the few great and useful discoveries of the age.

The time signals of the Paris observatory are distributed by wireless telegraphy. The standard clocks are kept in the "Catacombs" ninety feet under ground, where there is practically constant temperature of 11.8 centigrade, the variations in several years being under .02. The sidereal and polar clocks can be compared at a distance, their beats being audible by microphones.

Wireless telegraphy was first used for distributing time signals May 29, 1910. It is probably only a question of time before those or similar signals will be available to ships in any part of the world, which would completely solve the problem of longitude at sea with an accuracy formerly undreamed of.

This and the gyro-compass are two revolutionary improvements in navigation during the last fifteen months. The mean solar clock is put right at Greenwich by an electro-magnet that can either aid or oppose the action of gravity on the pendulum, warning signals being sent by hand in a pre-arranged manner to give notice of the actual signals, which are sent automatically by the clock and go through a relay of the Eiffel tower whence they proceed by wireless telegraphy.

A note in the Observatory recently stated that a clockmaster at Canterbury regulates his clocks by Paris signals, which were recently changed to accord with Greenwich time. Germany has also a system of signals dispatched from Norddeich, and Rio de Janeiro is about to follow suit. The French propose to use the method for the accurate determination of the difference in longitude between Paris, Bizerta, Tunis and Athens.
